

I didn't understand fully the problems of media consolidation until now. I am very angered at the irresponsible and biased position Sinclair broadcasting is taking in forcing their stations to air the anti-Kerry documentary days before a national election.

The free of charge airwaves they use should be used to benefit the local public, not make bottom line profits for the mother company.

If democracy is important to the FCC it will not allow Sinclair to carry out this broadcast unless they plan on showing "Going Upriver" at the same prime time slot shortly after.

Thank you,

Suzy Lombardo
